Go Wild on Ice with Dolce

Dolce International's German Hotel, Resort & Conference Destination at Bad Nauheim has launched a new "Go Wild on Ice" package, giving companies a truly original incentive concept. For those groups who are a little more rough and ready, it's the chance to prove true team spirit by bashing and thrashing one another in a fast and furious ice hockey experience.

The package begins at the Bad Nauheim ice-stadium near Frankfurt and caters for up to 45 people. "Go Wild on Ice" includes full training from up to three of the members of German ice hockey team Rote Teufel (red devils), as well as use of the whole stadium, changing rooms and all necessary equipment.

Afterwards, travel back to the hotel Dolce Bad Nauheim set on a hill overlooking the picturesque German bath town. Here you can enjoy a spa, take a swim in the indoor pool, or dine in one of the two restaurants, before retiring to one of its 159 guest rooms. With 27 meeting rooms, the package can also be integrated as a team building programme for meeting groups.

Philippe Attia, Senior Vice-President Operations Europe commented, "Dolce offers a wide variety of corporate incentive trips stretching across Europe. 'Go Wild on Ice' is a great idea for winter, for an exciting and very diverse way of team bonding and having fun."

As part of their winter promotion, Dolce will also be freezing the meeting prices across its 7 European venues. For full details on "Go Wild on Ice" and a list of all Dolce's other winter offers, visit www.dolce.com.
